

Pasha L. Hsieh
Professor of Law
SMU Yong Pung How School of Law

Pasha L. Hsieh is the Lee Kong Chian Professor of Law and Jean Monnet Chair at the Yong Pung How School of Law, Singapore Management University, where he also heads the United Nations University Hub on Green and Digital Regionalism. His research focuses on international economic law, trade and investment law, Asian regionalism, and sustainability. He is the author of New Asian Regionalism in International Economic Law (Cambridge University Press). Before academia, he worked at the WTO Appellate Body Secretariat and Shearman & Sterling in Washington, D.C.

Sherzod Shadikhodjaev
Professor
KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Sherzod Shadikhodjaev is Professor at the KDI School of Public Policy and Management. His research focuses on international economic law, including WTO law, regional trade agreements, investment, energy, and environmental regulation. He is the author of Energy and the Environment: Exploring the Nexus under International Economic Law and Industrial Policy and the World Trade Organization, both published by Cambridge University Press. His current work examines sustainability regulation, deforestation, supply-chain governance, and the legal implications of environmental measures for businesses and developing-country producers.

Yvonne Guo
Yong Pung How Junior Fellow
SMU Yong Pung How School of Law

Yvonne Guo is the inaugural Yong Pung How Junior Fellow at the Yong Pung How School of Law, Singapore Management University. Her research and teaching interests include trade and investment law and the Singapore legal system. Before joining academia, Yvonne served as a State Counsel in the International Affairs Division of the Attorney-General's Chambers, where she advised the Singapore Government on matters of public international law. Yvonne holds a JD from Singapore Management University, a PhD from the National University of Singapore, as well as a dual MA in international affairs and governance from Sciences Po and the University of St. Gallen.

Wolfgang Alschner
Professor
Faculty of Law, University of Ottawa

Wolfgang Alschner is the Hyman Soloway Chair in Business and Trade Law and Professor at the Faculty of Law, University of Ottawa, with a cross-appointment to the School of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science. He specializes in international economic law, investment law, legal technology, and computational legal analysis. He is the author of Investment Arbitration and State-Driven Reform (Oxford University Press) and heads the uOttawa Legal Technology Lab. His current work examines artificial intelligence, computational legal research, and trade and investment policy.